4240 Architecture, Inc. Relocating to RiNo District

- Who: 4240 Architecture, Inc. is an award-winning national design firm dedicated to creating architectural, planning and interior solutions that integrate social, technological, economic, environmental and aesthetic concerns. The firm has been based in Denver since 2003 and also has studios in Chicago and Vail.
- What: 4240 Architecture, Inc. is moving its Denver offices, along with its team of 70 professionals, to a former brick and steel foundry building in the River North (RiNo) District. The move continues 4240's tradition of leading urban renewal development: 4240 is the first architectural firm to relocate to the RiNo District. With the move, 4240 will nearly double the size of its office space from 8,600-square-feet to 14,200-square-feet.
- When: 4240 will move effective Sept. 24, 2007.
- Where: 4240 Architecture, Inc.
3003 Larimer St.
Denver, CO 80205
- Why: Since opening its Denver office in 2003, 4240 has continued to grow and establish itself in the Denver market. By inserting its high technology studio into this existing building, the firm continues to create an architecture that reflects on the past as it reveals the future. The renovation of 3003 Larimer St. will earn a Gold LEED rating and will bring a significant new work force into the RiNo area, promoting the re-establishment of another of Denver's past neighborhoods.

- 4240 Architecture: 4240 Architecture, Inc., a talented team of architects, planners and interior designers, is a new iteration of a firm formed in the 1970s. 4240 designs buildings, community frameworks, and spaces ranging from entire neighborhoods, resorts, and commercial architecture to interiors and private homes. Established in 2003, the firm's offices in Chicago [located at 42° latitude] and Denver [located at 40° latitude] comprise "4240." In just four years, the firm has grown into an 80-person team of professionals who are equally fluent in designing for urban settings and high-mountain properties – and for just about every context in between.
